

Six Reasons to Subscribe to the Journal:

1. SELF-SUFFICIENCY. The Journal needs your support. Currently we're losing money each issue due to the costs necessary for publication. We need 100 more subscribers to be financially solvent. You may think of subscribing to the Journal as making a donation, plus for $18 a year ($21 outside the US & Canada) you get the added benefits of receiving one issue every other month!
2. OUTREACH TO THE UNTREATED ADDICT. Many of us envision the Journal as a very effective outreach tool in the future. It could make a world of difference to the untreated sex and love addict to discover the Journal at their treatment center, rehab, therapy waiting room, etc and read through the many honest, inspiring stories of SLAA recovery. Already issues of the Journal are set aside for our prison outreach program. More available funds means more possible distribution.
3. SUPPORTING OUR MEMBERS WITHOUT MEETINGS. For some in SLAA without many or any available local meetings, the Journal is one of the few means they have of connecting and listening to the experience, strength and hope of others in our fellowship.
4. SUPPORTING THOSE WHO ARE BEING OF SERVICE. For all of us in SLAA, the Journal is our official magazine voted into effect at the 1989 conference. The production staff is all volunteers being of service. The Journal provides the only opportunity for members to share their stories through the written word in a magazine read by members around the world. Many have reported experiencing the phenomenal recovery of insight and perspective from every process of publishing the Journal.
5. RECOVERY THROUGH FELLOWSHIP. Not only is the Journal read and written by members around the world, it is also the only international meeting place that's topical and timely and that you can take with you. There is no better way to check the temperature of SLAA recovery worldwide. Our brothers and sisters face unique situations with sex and love addiction around the globe. The Journal helps to conceptually break the great divide.
6. THE FUTURE. Your participation by subscribing helps SLAA grow as a whole. By choosing to read what's happening advances the conversation and expands much recovery. Every two months you will receive Stories, Artwork, Events, Announcements, and Special Features. We're hoping you will want to participate enough to contribute your own shares, to serve on the Journal production staff, and to join the Conference Journal Committee. The current committee is discussing the details of offering online subscriptions. We will need someone with know-how to step up for the service commitment of Internet Tech for this to happen. Subscribe and let us each become integral supporters of our shared future in SLAA.

Six Reasons to Subscribe to the Journal:

1. SELF-SUFFICIENCY. The Journal needs your support. Currently we're losing money each issue due to the costs necessary for publication. We need 100 more subscribers to be financially solvent. You may think of subscribing to the Journal as making a donation, plus for $18 a year ($21 outside the US & Canada) you get the added benefits of receiving one issue every other month!
2. OUTREACH TO THE UNTREATED ADDICT. Many of us envision the Journal as a very effective outreach tool in the future. It could make a world of difference to the untreated sex and love addict to discover the Journal at their treatment center, rehab, therapy waiting room, etc and read through the many honest, inspiring stories of SLAA recovery. Already issues of the Journal are set aside for our prison outreach program. More available funds means more possible distribution.
3. SUPPORTING OUR MEMBERS WITHOUT MEETINGS. For some in SLAA without many or any available local meetings, the Journal is one of the few means they have of connecting and listening to the experience, strength and hope of others in our fellowship.
4. SUPPORTING THOSE WHO ARE BEING OF SERVICE. For all of us in SLAA, the Journal is our official magazine voted into effect at the 1989 conference. The production staff is all volunteers being of service. The Journal provides the only opportunity for members to share their stories through the written word in a magazine read by members around the world. Many have reported experiencing the phenomenal recovery of insight and perspective from every process of publishing the Journal.
5. RECOVERY THROUGH FELLOWSHIP. Not only is the Journal read and written by members around the world, it is also the only international meeting place that's topical and timely and that you can take with you. There is no better way to check the temperature of SLAA recovery worldwide. Our brothers and sisters face unique situations with sex and love addiction around the globe. The Journal helps to conceptually break the great divide.
6. THE FUTURE. Your participation by subscribing helps SLAA grow as a whole. By choosing to read what's happening advances the conversation and expands much recovery. Every two months you will receive Stories, Artwork, Events, Announcements, and Special Features. We're hoping you will want to participate enough to contribute your own shares, to serve on the Journal production staff, and to join the Conference Journal Committee. The current committee is discussing the details of offering online subscriptions. We will need someone with know-how to step up for the service commitment of Internet Tech for this to happen. Subscribe and let us each become integral supporters of our shared future in SLAA.

Six Reasons to Subscribe to the Journal:

1. SELF-SUFFICIENCY. The Journal needs your support. Currently we're losing money each issue due to the costs necessary for publication. We need 100 more subscribers to be financially solvent. You may think of subscribing to the Journal as making a donation, plus for $18 a year ($21 outside the US & Canada) you get the added benefits of receiving one issue every other month!
2. OUTREACH TO THE UNTREATED ADDICT. Many of us envision the Journal as a very effective outreach tool in the future. It could make a world of difference to the untreated sex and love addict to discover the Journal at their treatment center, rehab, therapy waiting room, etc and read through the many honest, inspiring stories of SLAA recovery. Already issues of the Journal are set aside for our prison outreach program. More available funds means more possible distribution.
3. SUPPORTING OUR MEMBERS WITHOUT MEETINGS. For some in SLAA without many or any available local meetings, the Journal is one of the few means they have of connecting and listening to the experience, strength and hope of others in our fellowship.
4. SUPPORTING THOSE WHO ARE BEING OF SERVICE. For all of us in SLAA, the Journal is our official magazine voted into effect at the 1989 conference. The production staff is all volunteers being of service. The Journal provides the only opportunity for members to share their stories through the written word in a magazine read by members around the world. Many have reported experiencing the phenomenal recovery of insight and perspective from every process of publishing the Journal.
5. RECOVERY THROUGH FELLOWSHIP. Not only is the Journal read and written by members around the world, it is also the only international meeting place that's topical and timely and that you can take with you. There is no better way to check the temperature of SLAA recovery worldwide. Our brothers and sisters face unique situations with sex and love addiction around the globe. The Journal helps to conceptually break the great divide.
6. THE FUTURE. Your participation by subscribing helps SLAA grow as a whole. By choosing to read what's happening advances the conversation and expands much recovery. Every two months you will receive Stories, Artwork, Events, Announcements, and Special Features. We're hoping you will want to participate enough to contribute your own shares, to serve on the Journal production staff, and to join the Conference Journal Committee. The current committee is discussing the details of offering online subscriptions. We will need someone with know-how to step up for the service commitment of Internet Tech for this to happen. Subscribe and let us each become integral supporters of our shared future in SLAA.